IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

CONFESSION AND FORGIVENESS

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 12:13, 14; Psalm 51:1-3, 9-13; 32:5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed.—James 5:16.

If the Bible told us only of perfect people, we would recognize it as being not true to life and assuredly of no help to us who know our own sinful natures. The Bible, however, tells us in all truthfulness of the bad as well as the good, the weak as well as the strong, the humble as well as the mighty.

It honestly portrays the sins of its greatest characters, revealing the heart of man as "deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked" (Jer. 17:9). It tells us of a gracious God (when many forsake and forsakes his sin) who invites the sinner to come and be delivered from his sin.

The lesson centers around David, the humble shepherd boy who became king; and in the height of his glory, being tempted of his own evil desires, fell into the lowest of sin, which he then sought to cover by a well-planned murder. He finds no peace until he repents and returns to God. Three words summarize the lesson.

I. Sin (II Sam. 12:13, 14).

That little three lettered word seems to have the ease of the serpent in it—sin—the cause of all man's woes and the heartache of a loving God.

David had tried to hide his sin and he said, "My bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me" (Ps. 32: 3, 4). "Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23) is just as true today as it was in David's time.

The nature of sin is described in Psalm 51, and it may anticipate a bit, we note that it is described by three words: "transgression," meaning a rebellious "stepping over" God's boundaries; "iniquity," from the same root as our word "unequal," meaning crookedness of heart and life; and "sin," which means missing the mark, a life going the wrong way.

Note that sin, while it may bring sorrow and trouble to us and those round about us, is "against the Lord" (v. 13 and Ps. 51:4). The sinner must face and answer to God for his sin.

Nathan's straightforward dealing with David brought him to

II. Repentance (Ps. 51:1-3, 9,13).

What David expressed to Nathan —"I have sinned against the Lord" —is more fully expressed in the great psalm of penitence which we know as Psalm 51. Dr. Wilbur M. Smith well says that "probably these verses have brought more comfort and assurance of forgiveness, and hope for a renewed life after some terrible transgression, to a greater number of God's children down through the ages than any other single passage in the pages of the Old Testament."

To acknowledge one's transgression before God is to open the floodgates of His mercy, to receive His grace in forgiveness, cleansing, restoration, new joy, and (note it well) renewed usefulness (v. 13). God does not cast His people off because of their sin, nor cut off their usefulness when they repent.

Observe, however, that God did not permit David's sin to go unpunished. God is forgiving, but even repentance cannot wipe out the results of sin (II Sam. 12:14). God chastised David to declare before the people all of His divine hatred of sin. To sin against God is no light and casual thing. It cuts deeply into life, and only the grace of God is sufficient to bring a man up out of that pit. But there is

III. Forgiveness (Ps. 32:5).

How tender and sweet is that word —forgiveness. It speaks of the removal of guilt, the breaking down of the barrier which sin has created, and the restoration of fellowship. Where all had been wrong and troubled, all has become right and at peace.

These things are true even in the forgiveness of one man toward another who has offended, but infinitely greater when the heart of God meets the repentant sinner. He is so ready to meet such a man that even while he is thinking of confessing, God sees the attitude of his heart and forgives. "At this moment, without sight or sound that mortal ear can detect, or attitude that the eye of man can observe, even before the thing is said, when I make up my mind to confess, 'thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin.' Do you wonder that when this man was going to write a psalm about this matter, he had to begin, 'O the blessings of transgression forgiven, and sin covered'?" (G. Campbell Morgan).

Fidelity

It is only by fidelity in little things that a true and constant love to God can be distinguished from a passing fervor of spirit.

No Need to Enlarge Organization

"It will not be necessary to set up new Government services, or new organizations of farmers to carry on agriculture's part of the national defense program," says Secretary of Agriculture, H. A. Wallace in a communication addressed to chiefs of bureaus and offices. This statement was issued following a conference between Mr. Wallace and Chester Davis of the Federal Reserve Board, who is the agricultural member of the Council of National Defense, recently re-established by President Roosevelt to correlate efforts of industry and Government.

Farm people themselves, through county extension organizations, AAA committees, planning committees, and similar groups, and government agricultural services in the department of agriculture and the land-grant colleges, are set up and staffed to do whatever needs to be done, secretary Wallace stated.

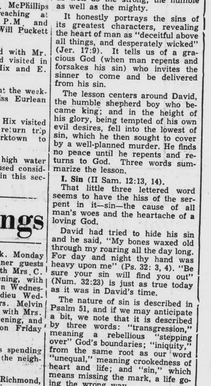
THE RECORD.... Facts That Concern You

WHAT HOPS DO FOR BEER AND ALE



Hops are for flavor. They give to good beer and ale their lively, appetizing flavor, their pleasant, aromatic tang.

Brewers select and blend their hops with extreme care. In fact, every step in making beer and ale is conducted with masterly skill—to give you better-tasting, more wholesome beverages.

Now the brewing industry wants to do one thing more. It wants to protect your right to drink good beer and ale—by keeping the beer and ale sold to you pure, too.

We want undesirable establishments "closed-up." A plan of action ready been put into effect by the Governors and Dukes of his consulted. It is explained that Mussolini had stolen his ideas for interesting free books, features in the September issue of Reader's Digest.

BEER...a beverage of moderation

But "The Masses" were not so foolish, after

LESS LOUDLY NOW, you may still hear an occasional agitator blasting away at the American system of business—which depends on big factories, big networks of dealers, trade-marked goods, heavy advertising, and low prices.

Agitators complained for years that "the masses" were injured by this system, and that we'd all be richer if we went back to the old cracker-barrel days.

But in spite of the complaints, little factories which have made dependable goods grew into big factories. Dealers insisted on having trade-marked goods which their customers could recognize. And the heavy advertising helped to give them modern newspapers, magazines and radio.

Who built this system? The masses built it, by insisting on the things they could recognize in the stores—on automobiles, soups, soaps, chewing gum, cigarettes, and on hundreds of articles that carried well-known trade names.

So the agitators have had to slow down. They have discovered that "the masses" were not so foolish as to lead astray after all.

Evergreen Personals

Evergreen, August 20.- After an absence of four weeks, your Evergreen correspondent is back again, with a feeble attempt to present some of the recent goings-on around Evergreen.

The reason for my continued absence is due to the fact that I have been very, very sick, and I am now only partly recovered. I am taking this method to thank the many kind friends who visited me and ministered unto me during the two weeks I was in bed.

The W. M. U. of the Evergreen Baptist church met with Mrs. W. W Woolridge last week, with an all day mission study picnic. The Y. W. A., G. A., R. A. and Sunbeams met at the safe place and time. Rev. C. A. Collins taught the W. M U and the Y W A. A large attendance was present.

Mrs. Bettie Phelps, of Bent Creek is spending some time in the home of Mrs. J. R. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs Wayland Sweeney, and Mrs. Ella Childress, of Lynchburg visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Jennings, Sunday.

Miss Minnie Chocklette, recently of the Virginia Baptist Orphanage, at Salem, will teach in one of the Appomattox county schools this session.

Rev. and Mrs C. A. Collins Jr. spent last week at at Christiansburg.

Mrs. C. I. Harvey and daughter, Terrell, of Darlington Heights spent the week-end in the home of her mo.her, Mrs. Emma Thomas. Mrs. Thomas is having the doors and windows of her home newly screened.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Conner visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E Conner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Z E Cheatham and Rev. G. W. Chockletl attended the funeral of Mrs. Hattie Cheatham Carson Tuesday.

Miss Dorothie Dr.skill, of Virginia Baptist Orphanage, is spending some time with Miss Jeanne Cheatham.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jeffrey and four children spent the week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E LeGrand.

Mrs. P. W. Coleman spent last week in the home of J. W. Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Garrett and children were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs J A Garrett Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeter Witt Woolridge and his mother, Mrs. Eula Mae Woolridge, of Covington, visited relatives at Evergreen Sunday. Mrs. Eula Woolridge will spend the week in the home of her neice, Mrs. W.W. Woolridge.

Mrs. J. T. Trent, of Lynchburg is spending this week in the home of Mrs. Ada Farrar and other relatives near Evergreen.

Among recent visitors at Westside were: Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hudnall, J. T Farrar and Jimmie Paulette and Mr and Mrs. E. A. Powell, all of Lynchburg.

E. W. Farrar, who has spent the past month packing his large crop of honey, has returned to his position with the N. & W. Railway.

The recent excessive rainfall has been detrimental to many of the vegetable gardens in this sections. Butter beans and black-eye peas are almost a failure and there will be a very poor crop of tomatoes.

Upland corn and pop corn are very good, but in many places the weeds and morning glories are as tall as the corn! It is too early to estimate the effect of the excessive rain on the tobacco crop, but in many fields the worms and the suckers are getting a running start.

One of the most beautiful roadside gardens at Evergreen is at the residence of Mrs. Z. E. Cheatham. It is well kept and the late rains have brought out a super-abundance of the most beautiful flowers.

We have some flowers here at West-Side, but flowers don't do well where chickens range free and the ground is infected with moles. Perhaps I may have some more to say about some unusual geranium plants next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam White and daughter, of Lynchburg were week-end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Staples.

Mrs. Clarence Simmons and family spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Maude Ranson.

Miss Lindy Warriner has returned home after spending three weeks with her sister, Mrs. James Gibson and Mrs. Herbert Smith, of Washington, D.C. She was accompanied home by Mrs. C. Z. Gibson and Al Gibson and son, Junior and Miss Barbara Dean, for a week's vacation.

Mrs. J. A. Young recently returned from a 10-day trip visiting relatives and friends in Pennsylvania and other points, including a trip to the fair in New York.

The Sunday Schools of the Baptist and Methodist churches of Evergreen held their picnic at Miller Park August 10th.

Mrs. J. D. Jennings has returned from a week's stay in New York.

Mr. and Mrs S J Jennings were in Lynchburg Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jennings attended the Morris family reunion Sunday at Tonawanda lake. This was an all-day gathering, with a bountiful dinner and an attendance of more than 100.

"Willkie Democrats" seem to be much in evidence. A traveling salesman told me the other day that he lived in a Democratic community, and as he joined the Willkie Club in his town, his was the 180th name. Men everywhere who are free to vote their convictions will vote against a third term candidate for president of the U. S. A.

As later reports come in, we hear of more extensive crop damage, especially as regards the tobacco crop. It seems that much tobacco is "drowned", the leaves have wilted, and in some instances the planter is cutting his tobacco in an effort to salvage at least a part of the crop.

We have seen some splendid crops of second growth red clover.

Pamplin

Pamplin, August 21.- Miss Mabel Duling was hostess to the Y. W. A. of Elon Baptist church on Tuesday evening. Mrs. R. S. Baldwin was program leader.
